Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Leading Business Men of Willimantic and Colchester It has manufacturing establishments unsurpassed in the country. It has its graded schools, elaborate church edifices, public cemeteries, lofty town buildings, its summer visitors, its market of gardens, its Roseland Park and all the usual accompaniments of modern civilization. The Windham County of to-day, as typified by its business centres, is wide-awake, progressive; a true child of the nineteenth century. These words apply with special force to the borough of Willimantic, for the concentration of manufacturing enterprises at that point, and the zeal and ability with which they have been carried on, have not only arrested the decline of Windham - which at one time was rapidly going on and was attended by the removal of the county seat to Brooklyn - but have made that town the richest and the first in population of any in the county. Of course, Windham Green - the old shire town - is not what it was. Gradually but surely her business interests have been abandoned or transferred to Willimantic, her powers and privileges have been greatly diminished and the reins of government have been given over to younger and stronger hands, until now she is in much the same position as an old and dignified matron who has relinquished to her sturdy children the duties she once performed so well herself. Although very old, she is by no means unattractive, on the contrary no more pleasant village can be found in the State, and some of her most distinguished sons have returned to her at the close of their active careers, while many visit her every summer and enjoy...
